

MRS. PATTERSON Made Miserable by Neuralgia

1615 Bedford Avenue, Pittsburg, Pa., August 27, 1903.

Mrs. Nora Patterson says: "For many years the pains of neuralgia kept me from sleeping. I became nervous and irritable and felt generally miserable. I consulted my family doctor and he prescribed for me, but still I could not sleep. A friend advised me to take Paine's Celery Compound. I hesitated a long time, for

I never had any faith in advertised medicines. Finally I tried a bottle and I felt such an improvement that I continued to take it until I had taken three bottles. It completely restored my health and I sleep now as well as anyone. My nervousness has disappeared and my appetite is fine."

IN HONOR OF SHERMAN

Monument to Great Warrior Unveiled in Washington.

PRESIDENT CHIEF SPEAKER

Mr. Roosevelt, Eulogizing Civil War Hero, Pleads For a Strong Navy and Denounces Dishonesty in Official Life.

Washington, Oct. 16.—To the memory of William Tecumseh Sherman an equestrian statue has been unveiled here by a little boy, William Tecumseh Sherman Thorndyke, grandson of the dead chief, in the presence of the official body in Washington, the president, the diplomatic corps and the cabinet at its head. Thousands of veterans, members of the societies of the armies of the Cumberland, the Tennessee, the Ohio and the Potomac, all the regular troops in the vicinity of Washington, a battalion of marines, two battalions of seamen and the District national guard were reviewed by the president before the unveiling ceremonies.

After the invocation by the Rev. D. J. Stafford and music by the Marine band General Grenville M. Dodge, president of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee and chairman of the Sherman statue commission, made the introductory address.

Upon its conclusion the Marine band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," the Fourth field battery, U. S. A., fired a salute and the flags which hid from view the statue were drawn aside by the grandson of the hero to whose memory it was erected.

President Roosevelt was then introduced and spoke in part as follows:

It is not necessary here to go over the long roll of Sherman's mighty feats. They are written large throughout the history of the civil war. Our memories would be poor indeed if we did not recall them now, as we look along Pennsylvania avenue and think of the great triumphal march which surged down its length when at the close of the war the victorious armies of the east and of the west met here in the capital of the nation they had saved.

There is a peculiar fitness in commemorating the great deeds of the soldiers who preserved this nation by noble movements at the national capital, but the living can best show their respect for the memory of the great dead by the way in which they take to heart and not upon the lessons taught by the lives which made these dead men great. Our homage today to the memory of Sherman comes from the depths of our being. We would be unworthy citizens did we not feel profound gratitude toward him and those like him and under him who, when the country called in her dire need, sprang forward with such gallant eagerness to answer that call. Their blood and their toil, their endurance and patriotism, have made us and all who come after us forever a reunited country, but a country incomparably greater because of its rich heritage in the deeds which thus left it reunited. As a nation we are the greatest not only for the valor and devotion to duty displayed by the men in blue who won in the great struggle for the Union but also for the valor and the loyalty to ward what they regarded as right of the men in gray, for this war, three fortunes above all other recent wars in its outcome, left to all of us the right of brotherhood alike with the victor and the vanquished.

Honage Must Show in Deeds.
Moreover, our homage must not only find expression on our lips. It must also show itself forth in our deeds. It is a great and glorious thing for a nation to be stirred to present triumph by the

HOW TO PREVENT COLDS.
Simple Way to Escape This Common Affliction.

A cold is the result of a sudden chill closing the pores of the skin and failure of the body to throw off the impurities. The worst thing you could do at such a time is to take the cough mixtures and balms or any patent medicines containing poisonous drugs which deaden the nerves and weaken the body.

Father John's Medicine builds you up at the same time it cures the cold; drives out the impurities and makes new, healthy tissue—that gives you vital force to ward off disease.

This old remedy is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of an eminent specialist who prescribed it for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien of St. Patrick's Parish, Lowell, Mass., fifty years ago, by whom it was recommended and from whom it derived its name. It contains no opium, morphine or poisonous drugs in any form—you will never have a cold if you keep it on hand to take after any exposure.

It is a food medicine and good to take right along, helps digest your food and has a gentle laxative effect without weakening. The better way is to buy the $1 bottles, which contain three times the quantity of the 50-cent size.

splendid memories of triumphs in the past, but it is a shameful thing for a nation if these memories stir it only to empty boasts, to a pride that does not shrink from present abasement, to that self satisfaction which accepts the high resolve and unshaking effort of the father as an excuse for effortless ease or wrongly directed effort in the son. We of the present, if we are true to the past, must show by our lives that we have learned aright the lessons taught by the men who did the mighty deeds of the past.

We cannot afford to lose the virtues which made the men of '61 to '65 great in war. No man is warranted in feeling pride in the deeds of the army and navy of the past if he does not back up the army and the navy of the present. If we are fared in our patriotism there will be no let up in the work of building and of keeping at the highest point of efficiency a navy suited to the part the United States must hereafter play in the world and of making and keeping our small regular army, which in the event of a great war can never be anything but the nucleus around which our volunteer armies must form themselves, the best army of its size to be found among the nations.

So much for our duties in keeping unshaken the honor roll our fathers made in war. It is of even more instant need that we should show their spirit of patriotism in the affairs of peace. The duties of peace are with us always; those of war are but occasional, and with a nation as with a man the worthiness of life depends upon the way in which the everyday duties are done. The home duties are the vital duties. The nation is nothing but the aggregate of the families within its border, and if the average man is not hard working, just and fearless in his dealings with those about him then our average of public life will in the end be low, for the stream can rise no higher than its source. But in addition we need to remember that a peculiar responsibility rests upon the man in public life. We meet in the capital of the nation, in the city which owes its existence to the fact that it is the seat of the national government.

Dishonest Officials Denounced.
And so it is well for us in this place and at this time to remember that exactly as there are certain homely qualities the lack of which will prevent the most brilliant man alive from being a useful soldier to his country so there are certain homely qualities for the lack of which in the public servant no shrewdness or ability can atone. The greatest leaders, whether in war or in peace, must of course show a peculiar quality of genius, but the most redoubtable armies that have ever existed have been made possible because the average soldier, the average officer, possessed to a high degree such comparatively simple qualities as loyalty, courage and hardihood. And so the most successful governments are those in which the average public servant possesses that variant of loyalty which we call patriotism, together with common sense and honesty. We can as little afford to tolerate a dishonest man in the public service as a coward in the army. The murderer takes a single life; the corrupt politician, if public life, whether he be bribe giver or bribe taker, strikes at the heart of the commonwealth. In every public service

J. H. TILLMAN ACQUITTED.
Jury Finds Him Not Guilty of Murder of N. G. Gonzales.

Lexington, S. C., Oct. 16.—The jury in the case of J. H. Tillman, charged with the murder of N. G. Gonzales, has found him not guilty. The jury announced at 10:45 that a verdict had been agreed upon. The defendant and attorneys were sent for, and the jury then filed into the court room, and the verdict was read.

A demonstration followed the announcement, friends of the defendant giving vent to their feelings in a shout. The court previous to the reading of the verdict had admonished the spectators to refrain from any demonstration.

Counsel for defense moved the defendant's discharge from the sheriff's custody. No objections being made by the state, the court made the order.

The jury was out about twenty hours before returning a verdict. The defendant shook hands with the judge and members of the jury and left the court room accompanied by his friends and counsel.

The wife and mother of the defendant, who have attended the trial daily, were not in the court room when the verdict was announced, but the latter was on her way to the courthouse, having heard the news when her son walked out and met her on the street.

His wife awaited him at the hotel, having been informed of the verdict in advance of his coming. Senator Tillman was not present, having returned to his home, where his wife is recovering from injuries received in a runaway accident. A telegram was sent him immediately after the verdict was announced.

Diplomatic Day.
Washington, Oct. 16.—It being diplomatic day at the state department and Secretary Hay seeing more representatives of foreign governments than at any time since last spring, Minister Takahira of Japan had a long interview with Mr. Hay, in which the situation in the far east was discussed at considerable length. The minister has had some recent dispatches from his government. When asked if the situation was more pacific, he said that it was not as imminent as it had been. Mr. Takahira has no official advice as to what the latest demands by Russia upon China contain.

PLATT WEDS SECRETLY

His Marriage to Mrs. Janeway Took Place Last Sunday.

A SURPRISE TO EVERYBODY

None but Members of Interested Families at Ceremony, Which Was Performed by Dr. Burrell at the Holland House.

New York, Oct. 16.—Formal announcement has been made at the offices of Senator Thomas C. Platt, 48 Broadway, that the senator and Mrs. Lillian T. Janeway were married in the latter's apartments in the Holland House at noon on Sunday last.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate church. It was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the senator and Mrs. Janeway. The bride was attended by her daughter, Miss Snow, and the senator's two sons, who are in the city, Frank H. and Henry Platt, were present.

The announcement was made by Mr. Howe, Senator Platt's private secretary. Mr. Howe said: "The marriage was held privately to avoid the crush and notoriety which would have attended a public ceremony. Both the senator and Mrs. Platt were of the same opinion as to the wedding. Announcement was delayed for the same reasons."

The announcement occasioned great surprise in social and financial circles.

No Interference by Miss Wood.
Miss Mae C. Wood, to whom had been attributed the purpose of instituting a suit for breach of promise of marriage against Senator T. C. Platt on the eve of his marriage, has expressed herself in terms of indignation regarding the published rumors and said she was not interested in any person's matrimonial affairs. The only ones who are apt to get into trouble, she added, are those who are at the bottom of these silly rumors.

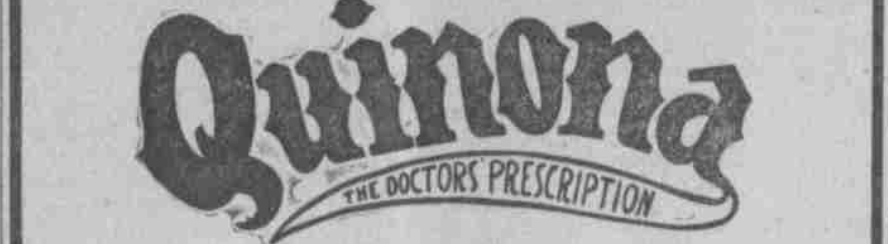

When asked if she knew Senator Platt, she said:

"Of course I know him. I have known him for several years. He has always been friendly to me, and I esteem him highly. I regret the publication of these ridiculous stories as very unfortunate and distressing."

To a reporter Senator Platt said:

"I have seen the statements about Miss Wood in the newspapers and regret that anything should have been published to her discredit. Of course all the suggestions in regard to lawsuits are absurd and ridiculous. I have known Miss Wood for a long time and, with the senators from her own state, recommended her for a position in the post office department. So far as I know she has performed her duties satisfactorily. I regard her as a lady of fine attainments."

Strongest Proofs Possible

Used by Hospitals Everywhere

Letters Tell of Its Great

Strength Giving Properties

And Its Positive Cure of All

Stomach and Nervous Troubles

Augusta City Hospital, Augusta, Me., where Quinona is constantly used.

"We have used large quantities of Quinona at the Augusta City Hospital the past winter as a strength giving tonic and anti-malarial with very satisfactory results." (Signed)

C. B. Burlingame
President Augusta City Hospital

Dr. W. H. Harris, head physician, Augusta City Hospital, says he prescribes Quinona in severe cases of nervous and stomach troubles and general run-down conditions, with very beneficial results, so that when one of the nurses of the City Hospital became run down in health from overwork he advised the taking of Quinona as a means of bringing back strength and energy. No beneficial did it prove in this case that before many weeks nearly all the nurses were taking Quinona and all praise its wonderful strength-giving power. Quinona is now used constantly in the hospital, as shown by the president's statement.

The matron of the hospital spoke in the highest terms of Quinona and said that she had personally seen many proofs at the hospital of its great medicinal value.

Anna C. Moody, Nurse of the Mass. General Hospital, Boston, says: "I want to tell of a case where Quinona was given in the prescribed dose three times daily to an elderly man whose health was in a very bad state. He has made steady progress since taking Quinona, feels much stronger and eats and sleeps well."

MISS ANNA C. MOODY,
Mass. General Hospital, Grad. Boston Training School Nurses, Boston, Mass.

A. C. Cline writes from Maine General Hospital, Portland, Me.: "Kindly send me at once a large bottle of Quinona to the Maine General Hospital, Portland, Me. Quinona is working like a charm and I feel ten years younger." A. C. CLINE.

N. Y. Hospital Uses Quinona.

"I used a bottle of Quinona in a case of anemia following bronchitis in a young man, and he reports a marked improvement. Kindly send me six bottles, which will be used in my services at the New York Hospital. Quinona is certainly the most excellent and palatable tonic I have ever used, and, owing to the ethical rules of the various medical societies to which I belong I cannot let you use my name, will be most happy to recommend it to my colleagues and patients."

The original copies of these letters can be seen at our office. Quinona's great medicinal value is acknowledged by all.

Quinona Brings Good Health to All

This wonderful preparation acts like magic on the run-down, overworked system. Unlike any other preparation, it fills a place of its own. It is not a stimulant, but a purely medicinal formula, which acts quickly and more directly on the nerve system than any other preparation known to medical science. It is food for the nerve system and quickly gives it the strength to do its work. Its success in curing all stomach troubles is phenomenal. It removes all stomach troubles, no matter how severe or of how long standing. It is a positive cure for dyspepsia, driving away every bit of pain and that loggy feeling, and in its place creates a beautiful appetite, giving each part the strength to properly digest the food.

As a Tonic
Quinona is unsurpassed. When you wake up in the morning feeling tired and dragged out a teaspoonful of Quinona will give you at once fresh strength and vitality and put you in perfect condition for the day's work. If during the day you become tired a sip of Quinona will refresh you at once. Women especially find Quinona a valuable tonic to take when tired out from a day's shopping. If your head aches, a little Quinona will at once drive away all head pains. If, on retiring you feel nervous and twitchy a bit of Quinona will at once refresh your nervous system and bring sound, restful sleep.

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE
Quinona has been sold for the last ten years by Weeks & Potter Co., wholesale druggists of Boston, to retail druggists to supply physicians' prescriptions only. The exact formula and directions for taking are printed on the label of every bottle. You know exactly what you are putting into your stomach. It is a perfectly safe and palatable tonic to take.

Quinona is now sold directly to the people in $1 bottles.

ENGLISH VS. FRENCH.

Arbitration Agreement Signed by Lansdowne and Cambon.

TO RUN FOR FIVE YEARS.

All Differences of a Judicial Order or Such as Relate to Interpretations of Treaties to Be Submitted to Hague Tribunal.

London, Oct. 15.—The arbitration treaty between Great Britain and France has been signed here by Foreign Secretary Lansdowne and the French ambassador, M. Cambon.

The text of the treaty is as follows:

"The government of the French republic and the government of His Britannic Majesty, signatories of the convention concluded at The Hague July 29, 1899, for the peaceful settlement of international disputes:

"Considering that by article 19 of that treaty the high contracting powers reserve to themselves the right of concluding agreements with the view to have recourse to arbitration in all cases in which they shall consider it possible to submit thereto.

"Have authorized the undersigned to agree to the following provisions:

"Article One.—Differences of a judicial order of such as relate to the interpretation of treaties existing between the two contracting parties, which may arise between them and which it may not be possible to settle by means of diplomacy, shall be submitted to the permanent court of arbitration established at The Hague by the convention of July 29, 1899, on condition, however, that they do not involve either vital interests or the independence or honor of the two contracting states and that they do not affect the interests of a third power.

"Article Two.—In each particular case the high contracting parties before addressing themselves to the permanent court of arbitration shall sign a special arbitration bond setting forth clearly the subject under dispute, the extent of the powers of the arbitrators and the details to be observed as regards the constitution of the arbitral tribunal and the procedure.

"Article Three.—The present arrangement is concluded for a term of five years from the date of the signature."

MAY SUE SENATOR PLATT.

Rumor That Mae Wood Wants $25,000 For Breach of Promise.

New York, Oct. 15.—The report that Miss Mae Wood, a clerk in the post office department in Washington, is here camping on Senator Platt's trail for reasons which she has not made public is keeping local gossips busy. The World says:

"It is the belief of those in New York who know Miss Mae Wood that she is waiting until after Senator Platt is married to Mrs. Lillian Janeway to file papers in a $25,000 breach of promise suit. Miss Wood is keeping from public view. She was accompanied to New York by a Washington lawyer.

"The young woman is registered at a hotel under an assumed name. She was seen by a man who used to work with her in the rural free delivery branch of the post office of this city, but she did not mention to him anything of her intentions regarding Senator Platt.

"The senator left the Fifth Avenue hotel at his usual hour for his office at 40 Broadway. Previously he had Platt had given her, together with a bundle of letters she said he had addressed to her, and announced she was going to New York to prevent his wedding Mrs. Janeway.

"Miss Wood is about thirty-three years old, attractive in appearance though not a beauty, but stylish and vivacious in manner. She is a woman of great mental keenness and of considerable culture.

"Her home was in Omaha, though nothing was ever learned there by her associates of her antecedents."

Victorious Munyon

"I Received Absolutely No Benefit from Doctors, and Now I Am Cured."

He Was a Sufferer From Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach.

Munyon's Paw Paw

Made Him Like a New Man As It Makes Thousands Every Day.

Munyon's Paw Paw is the spirit and essence of a fruit that contains Nature's papain. It comes to you with that papain so held and so combined that its powers are instantly available.

It cures indigestion.
It prevents insomnia.
It stops nervousness.
It corrects every stomach fault.

It insures healthy blood and the healthy action of every organ in the body.

It brings the sparkle and vitality of youth to those who have been weakened by overstrain or made miserable by dissipation.

H. E. Pierce, of No. 13 Beverley St., Providence, R. I., says under date of September 8th:—

"I suffered tortures from indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach; received absolutely no benefit from doctors. As a last resort I began taking Paw Paw, the World's tonic, and I am feeling like a new man. I never saw a medicine respond so quickly, and now, after 10 days taking of Paw Paw, I am entirely cured."

Professor Munyon is receiving hundreds of similar testimonials every day. And he is receiving tear-stained letters from wives and mothers, and grateful thanks from husbands and sons because of the power of his Paw Paw in rescuing victims from the slavery of drink. It gives exhilaration without intoxication. It lifts and holds. It insures a healthy appetite for healthy food, and drives away any wish or need for stimulants.

At any druggist, $1 per bottle. Paw Paw Laxative Pills, 25 cents a bottle.
